

1. An app that lets someone find and mark outdoor rock climbs that they want to climb.
2. A platforming game where you go down instead of up.
3. An app that helps you track your workout timer for repetitive climbing training.
4. An app that helps you keep on pace for your workout so you can finish in an efficient and timely manner
5. An app that filters the news so you get only positive news
6. A game where its uno but you gamble each hand, there are only 3 or 4 cards per hand
7. An app where you can send battery to other phones.
8. A game similar to game pigeon but deeper games like a platform racer or race game

Narrowed list:

1. This will be a card game similar to uno but with a twist. Each hand will only have three or four cards, there will be more unique cards (ex: a card that lets you give a card to an opponent), and with each hand you gamble a certain amount with adding more or folding after each turn
2. This app will help you create repetitive climbing workouts with a timer that helps you keep on track, finish efficiently, and remember which workout exercise you are doing
3. This app will help filter out negative news. This will only focus on positive news and achievements. This will filter out all talk of politics, accidents/tragedies, and any talk of negative events